Easter SUNDAY

The weather was glorious as we convened at La Pulente on Easter Sunday for Steptoe's run. See the sun doesn't only shine on the righteous! Shamefully only one pair had dusted off their Easter bonnets – bravo Hooker and Poocock! The average age of the pack was reduced considerably this week as we were joined by returnee Clare and her beautiful baby daughter Margot (no bias honestly!!)

As is usual these days the walkers far outnumbered the runners, whom Steptoe had promised a shortish run. They headed off to the dunes and the walkers set off towards Corbiere. The runners trail can be seen in Steptoe's 'Strava' record below.

Meanwhile the walkers had a very pleasant stroll around the point to Petit Port, up to the railway walk and after a couple of downs and an up led them back to La Pulente car park. There they found that Steptoe had been true to his word about it being a short run as the runners were waiting for them. I say waiting but it hadn't stopped them tucking into the picnic table laden with bread, cheese, pate and accompaniments. Once the food had all but gone the down downs were dispensed to our hare, Steptoe, and catering manager, Walkies. Well done both.
