

CRAPAUD H3 REPORT

Run No.:	1750
Date:	30 July 2023
Hare(s):	Trotsky, ably assisted by Wendolene

AS many of you will know, I, MD, used to be a journalist. In that capacity I always regarded the facts as sacred, but I have also made one or two forays into fiction – which is probably just as well, given the circumstances underlying this particular Crapaud report.

Here's the problem: due to a knee injury, I was certainly unable to run the course set by our hare, Trotsky. I was not, in fact, even able to follow the trail as a walker. Too much pain; too much grief. All I could do was turn up at the Farmers for a pint and more than my share of sausages. (No pain; no grief.)

Fortunately, the GM rarely goes anywhere without his Strava – well, he could get lost looking for the loo at Shiraz Lodge at his time of life – so below you will see an accurate representation of the trail set in the leafy purlieus of outer St Ouen. I heard a whisper that the trail included a fair bit of tarmac, but it was only a whisper.

My hope now is that the selection pictures – taken mostly by the GM – will tell much of the rest of the tale.

That said, I can offer a non-fictional morsel or two concerning the on-downs at the pub. As usual, the Farmers provided a good spread, with the sausages being of a markedly high standard. Also provided was tent-marquee-gazebo sort of thing which afforded moderate shelter from the generally appalling weather conditions.

It was good to see Isitbuggery once again, and the same can be said of Andy Lewis, who turned up with a general invitation to join the other Hash on a Monday evening run.

Quite properly, Jacko was punished. For what? Can't remember. Probably just for being Jacko. And Smuggler faced birthday discipline for having reached the advanced age of 70.

The hares also received their just desserts, as did Isitb, who had just finished the 30 Bays challenge.

On-on!

MD

STRAVA

Crabbe

St M

St. Ouen

St. Ouen l'Eglise

Run
3.9 mi

Pace
13:04 /mi

Time
51m 37s

© 2015 Strava, Inc. All rights reserved. Map data © OpenStreetMap contributors, Imagery © Mapbox

