

CRAPAUD H3 REPORT

Run No.:	1770
Date:	17 December 2023
Hare(s):	Ballcock

Sunshine was to be the order of the day for this week's run and you would expect that after numerous dull and wet runs the bright skies would have encouraged hashers in their hundreds to turn up at the Seymour Pub. Sadly this was not to be the case.

Steptoe, Poocock and Muff Diver called in sick, Frisco had a prior engagement with a football, Tinky was tied to the kitchen stove making cookies for the troops and Wendolene was otherwise engaged. Oh and I think Smuggler might have been in Liverpool supporting his team in a match against Man U.

Anyway we formed the usual circle and our worthy hare, Ballcock called the other runner Jacko to order. And yes, you did read that correctly as this week we had the grand total of two runners and seven walkers braving the fields and lanes of the eastern parishes of St Clement and Grouville. It was lovely to welcome Glutinous Minimus back to the fold and Molehills' stepdaughter Emma too.

Predictably after leaving the carpark the runners and walkers went their separate ways albeit in a similar sort of direction with both groups ultimately heading for the hills and fields above Grouville Parish Hall. Our paths did cross a few times during the morning but apart from that the run and walk were surprisingly without incident apart that is from our two runners who reportedly had a close encounter with a flock of geese.

The pub did us proud with plates full of sausages on toast (Yes, that's a new one for me too!) and French fries in abundance. Preceding this we were treated to Tinky's chocolate and biscotti cookies – a new must for any biscuit tin.

Down downs were awarded to our hare Ballcock for laying a great trail and not losing his runner and to Jacko for not getting lost despite his normal inclination to follow an imaginary trail.

Twin Peaks

Next week's run is from the Orchid Farm in Trinity
10 o'clock start.
