

CRAPAUD H3 REPORT

Run No.:	1821
Date:	8/12/24
Hare(s):	Ballcock

Where to begin.....due to recent bad weather in the form of Storm Darragh, Ballcock had decided not to waste his time laying a trail which would ultimately be blasted to smithereens in the strong winds, but to lead a 'Live Hare' from his local pub, the Seymour Inn.

Hashers and harriettes duly gathered at the required time to be told there was no trail to follow but all they had to do was keep close to the hare. Normally this would be easier said than done for some but I'm reliably informed that on this occasion the pack looked after its own and despite the inclement weather everyone returned safely. The walkers, led by illegal, enjoyed a decent walk but there were a few short cutters amongst them, me included, who decided on coffee at HolmGrown rather than a long walk in the very fresh air! Each to their own.

Its said that every picture tells a story and unfortunately because I opted out of the run and the main walk I've no idea where anyone went so the photos below will definitely tell this week's story apart that I, from the down downs as these went unrecorded, sorry.

Thanks for organizing great food at a very welcoming venue Ballcock, please please just sort out the weather next time!

Twin Peaks.
