| Hare(s): | Twin Peaks with a little bit of help from Muff Diver |

This week's run saw a welcome return to the wild north of the island with both walkers and runner, though fewer in number, taking advantage of the milder weather. The Grand Master and Rev were both on holiday, though not together I hasten to add, so it fell upon our stand-in grand master to call the hash to order and after a few announcements our hare Twin Peaks issued a couple of basic instructions ie: follow the trail whether it be north, east, south or west and in fields please stick to the edge and then it was On On.

Although we all left in the same direction it wasn't long before the paths of the walkers and runners diverged. Illegal Immigrant led the 14 walkers through the lanes towards Mourier Valley and from there onto the headland to come out near Sorrel Point where there was a very well attended Motor Cross meeting going on. We wound our way back through the lanes after what had been a fairly long walk. A gold star to Molehill for turning up this week with Emma and another 4 for actually sticking with us throughout the walk.

Now the runners went in a different direction altogether and headed north past the old L'Auberge du Nord, which thankfully wasn't open so not costly on my purse! They then skirted the Horse Box cafe to arrive at La Saline quarry unfortunately for some the only way out of this is by a series of step steps leading to Fremont and Wolf's Caves – a test for any runner. Into the lanes again to come up Rue des Barracques and enter La Vallette, a National Trust property and former home of yours truly. Amazing views of Bonne Nuit from this little bit of cliff path – see pics. After finding their way around a few of the fields our small but select little group headed back to St John's via a few pathways and the Recreation Centre.

On Downs were held at St John's Inn where a plentiful supply of the usual hash grub of sausages and chips was provided. No birthday Down Downs this week so it was just our hare to be punished for the trail.
