

CRAPAUD H3 REPORT

Run No:	1845
Date:	25/5/25
Hares(s):	Jacko

WHEN Jacko, our esteemed GM, hares a run it can mean only one thing: or two, actually – St Ouen and on-downs at the Farmers.

And so it was on 25 May. We gathered, as usual, in the car park at the back of the parish hall and prepared for the on-on. As now seems the norm, there was a good turnout, which included a virgin – Jacko's son-in-law Nat, who looked far too young and fit in comparison with the rest of the Crapauds.

By all accounts, the run was a testing one, which took in many of the byways of the far north-west.

The walkers, however, settled for something rather gentler, taking a tour which included the parish church and the fields which, it is alleged, are remnants of the practice of medieval strip farming. It was there that the walkers and runners crossed paths. Otherwise it was very much a run/walk of two separate halves.

As you can see from one of the pics below, the GM's romantic inclinations came to the fore. He found a lovely bunch of flowers which, I am sure, Judith was delighted to receive. But I wonder – did they come from the graveyard of the aforementioned parish church? Surely not.

Once again, the Farmers came up trumps with the food, which included not only sausages and chips but also breaded chicken breasts. And, of course, Steptoe and others were delighted with the range of real ales on offer.

In due course Commando was punished for being a birthday girl and the other down-downs were awarded to virgin Nat and the hare.

At the end of the picture section you'll see something that doesn't appear to have much to do with Hashing. It shows supporters of the Jersey branch of the Gurkha Welfare Trust at the summit of Skafell in the Lake District. Among them are Wendolene and Twin Peaks, who, with Vital Statistics, raised a very substantial amount for the charity. Tinky Winky must also be mentioned as part of the climbers' support group.

TP, W and VS have said how grateful they are to the hash and hashers for the contributions they made to the fund-raising effort.

On-on!
