Home Sweet Home

We met at the home of Jersey hashing, the Smugglers, in the car park in the wind and rain. Our hare today for our run, or walk is Vital Statistics.

It's the third week that the hash has gathered in the parish of St Brelade's. Will today's run overlap last week's run from the Portelet up over the hill?

The trail was laid in a thunderstorm, so there's a possibility that it had been washed away, undaunted the runners followed Wendolene who had the task of leading the pack in the right direction, across the common & up the hill of Les Rousseau, around Pont Marquet, Quennavais, and then downhill through Winston Churchill park, and according to Steptoe's Strava photograph ran into the sea, fortunately the tide was very low and I don't think anyone got wet feet.

The walkers went along the common, and then onto the beach across to St Brelade's bay where they split into 3 groups, the hardy, Illegal and Muff diver, went up to the top of Winston Churchill park and onto parts of the runners route, 3 others went 1/2 way up the park and then back down along the beach. The remainder stopped for a reviving coffee and proceeded through the park and met up with the runners as they left the park and back to the on downs via the beach.

It was a busy pub, with Tinky, Foxy, Is it B, Walkies and Chickpea joining everyone at the Smugglers for the on downs. Wendolene, who is a hare for the Christmas party run, was busy collecting menu choices from the party goers on 7th December.

After everyone had enjoyed the food and drinks Hash Rev called everyone outside for the down downs, our Hare, Vital Statistics, was joined by Steptoe and Tinky, Steptoe for a typing error in his Thursday email, giving those paying last week a discount of £10 on their subs, and Tinky's down down was for pointing out this mishap.

An enjoyable morning spent with friends.
