

	<h1>CRAPAUD H3 REPORT</h1>
Run No.:	1871
Date:	23/11/25
Hare(s):	Ballcock / The Seymour Pub

Our hare had been warned that numbers might be depleted this week but I'm delighted to report that the turnout reached double figures.....but not quite a baker's dozen.

The grandmaster gave his usual sports report including results for the local teams but I'm afraid I must have been distracted as I can't remember the finer details, sorry.

The inclement weather of the last few days led to Ballcock's decision to do a live hare run as he feared that any sawdust or chalk markings would be washed away by the heavy rain. Rather than the runners chasing after a very fast hare, Ballcock slowed his pace to theirs and was therefore able to keep everyone together, sensible in the circumstances as there were only 5 runners in total.

As to the route, both the walkers and runners started off along the sea wall heading towards Gorey but sadly our paths didn't cross again until we were at the pub so I'll have to let the photographs tell the story.

Talking of pubs The Seymour provided us with excellent food and at no cost, this surely is a first. The Liberation Group are currently running a programme of community based funding and on Sunday we were the lucky recipients. So a big thank you to them and to Adrianna and the team at the Seymour for making us very welcome. The Liberation Group are going to use photographs from Sunday in part of their advertising campaign, fame at last.

In the meantime, some of our absent hashers were enjoying a weekend of festivities and early Christmas celebrations with our friends from the Truro hash. I've included a few incriminating photographs but I'm sure there'll be more to follow as well as tales of the weekend's red dress run and other activities.

That's it for now,
