On yer bike

This week we met in the far east at the entrance to the Royal Jersey Golf Course. The hare was yours truly (Smuggler) and once again instead of laying a trail I had resorted to two wheels to direct the runners. Only four intrepid hashers decided to run the trail and the ten walkers were led by Nil by Mouth.

The runners were led past the assorted bird life on La Cache Des Pres and towards Queen's Valley Reservoir. They were told to take the western path and then convene at the main car park. From there I led them to the charming little lane called Le Passage De L'Hopital. I explained that the lane was blocked by a fallen tree and offered the alternatives of a cross country yomp across some fields or an on road loop. They decided to take on the tree and managed to clamber through it without any mishaps.

The trail then led them down to Gorey village and on to a very windy promenade. From there it was a straightforward run across Gorey common and through the golf course to the On Home at the Pembroke pub.

The walkers meanwhile had also gone past Les Pres Manor before heading to Gorey. The compulsive coffee drinkers managed to get some takeaway beverages to sustain them. We all arrived at the Pembroke in plenty of time for an aperitif before we were served with sausage, chips and cheesy bread – yum-yum.

The down downs were called and first up was Frisco for his efforts the previous week in arranging for a sumptuous feast to be supplied at St John's Inn and then leaving Wendolene (temporary Hash Cash) to pick up most of the bill from her own pocket! He then joined me (as hare) for his impression of TinTin – see photo below.

A very enjoyable morning all round – even if I say so myself.

A cold and windy start
