Hare: Wendolene

Up & Down

It may be Meteorological Autumn but the forecast was for the summer to be hang on long enough for Wendolene's run from the former Bowls Club at Les Creux. It didn't quite work out that way & and our Weather Girls forecast that it would be raining rain (not men) during the run. It didn't quite happen like that as it only started to get a little damp as the runners returned to the refuge of the car park. The walkers, unusually, arrived back after the runners & were somewhat damper.

I'm not too sure as to our walkers' route but from the photos provided by Muff Diver I see that they descended into St. Brelade's Bay. The runners came from the opposite direction & had to climb the steep path out of the Bay as recorded on the Strava route.

Back at Les Creux, Wendolene swiftly put out the comestibles which were greatly enjoyed by the pack

We were called to order & in the absence of Frisco awarded the punishments. The hash must at long last be behaving themselves as there were no sinners & birthday song was delivered in honour of Molehiils who seemed to enjoy his ale. Our hare was rewarded for a good run &, as usual, took her time in disposing of her reward.

In her briefing Wendolene had promised no virgin territory & she certainly kept that promise but, nonetheless, it was a very well thought out & enjoyable run.

The weather improved later in the afternoon & Walkies & I were able to enjoy the warm sun whilst seated on our patio enjoying a Bombay Sapphire & tonic – life is a bitch at times.

On on,
Steptoe
